SHIP WRECKED!

At this time of year the weather limits our options a bit and, forced to spend a bit more time indoors than usual, we'll imagine we're shipwrecked sailors with nothing but music, drama, art, dance, sport, and games to keep us busy while we await rescue! We'll also learn about using teamwork to overcome difficulties and how to access our imaginations to overcome boredom. Here's how the week shapes up.

Monday: We start the week with an introduction to the story and lay out our "keys to survival". Then it's games and arts & crafts before lunch, followed by music, drama, and outdoor play in the afternoon.

Tuesday: Today we venture out to explore the local area, if weather permits. We'll investigate Battersea Park (taking care to avoid pirates) and then return for a sculpture workshop and games.

Wednesday: After our adventures in the wilds across the river, we'll stay put today and launch ourselves into arts & crafts sessions, a dance workshop, a cooking lesson, and music and drama activities.

Thursday: Today we go in search of our battered ship, which we hope to find at Princess Diana's Memorial Playground in Hyde Park. On our return we'll do drama, crafts and high-energy games.

Friday: At the end of week we put it all together and celebrate our newfound skills and great friendships with a little bit of everything: sport, music, drama, art and cooking. Let's party!
