SHIPWRECKED!

At this time of year the weather limits our options a bit and, forced to spend a bit more time indoors than usual, we'll imagine we're shipwrecked sailors with nothing but music, drama, art, dance, sport, and games to keep us busy while we await rescue! We'll also learn about using teamwork to overcome difficulties and how to access our imaginations to overcome boredom. Here's how the week shapes up.

Monday: We start the week with an introduction to the story and lay out our "keys to survival". Then it's games and arts & crafts before lunch, followed by music, drama, and outdoor play in the afternoon.

Tuesday: Today we venture out to explore the local area, in search of an interesting local landmark. We set our sights on the Saatchi Gallery for an interactive art club, then we return to the base for a sculpture workshop and games.

Wednesday: After our adventures in the badlands of the Kings Road we'll stay put today and launch ourselves into arts & crafts sessions, a dance workshop, and music and drama activities.

Thursday: Today, careful to avoid pirates, we go in search of our battered ship, which we hope to find at Princess Diana's Memorial Playground in Hyde Park (via bus no. 49). On our return we'll do drama, crafts and high-energy games to wrap up.

Friday: At the end of week we put it all together and celebrate our newfound skills and great friendships with a little bit of everything: sport, music, drama, art and cooking. Let's party!
